

EDUCATIONAL RESOURCES

A variety of resources to learn more about the connections between population, development, environment, and reproductive health

IF YOU WANT TO READ...

- How Many People Can Our World Support? (World Population History, PopEd)
- Urbanization and the Megacity (World Population History, PopEd)
- Women's Status and Fertility Rates (World Population History, PopEd)
- Exploring the Issues - multiple documents (Population Education, PopEd)
- As World's Population Booms, Will Its Resources Be Enough for Us? (National Geographic, 2014)
- Can the Planet Support 11 Billion People? (Scientific American, 2015)
- The Unrealized Horrors of Population Explosion (The New York Times, 2015)
- Over-populated or under-developed? The real story of population growth (The Guardian, 2016)
- World's population could swell to 10.9 billion by 2100, U.N. report finds (NBC News, 2019)

Want more insight? Check out our blog!